

Use your short story to answer the following questions:

1) Who is the intended audience of this piece? How do you know?

---

---

2) What is the purpose of this story?

---

---

3) What is the setting of the story?

---

---

4) Who is the narrator? Is s/he reliable or unreliable? How do you know?

---

---

5) Is the story 1st, 2nd, or 3rd person point-of-view? How do you know?

---

---

6) Is the story objective, limited, or omniscient point-of-view? Explain your answer. Which character(s)' thoughts do you know?

---

---

---

7) List your main characters. Label each as a antagonist, protagonist, or neither; briefly explain each answer.

---

---

---

8) List each of your main characters. Label each as dynamic or static; briefly explain each answer.

---

---

---

9) List each of your main characters. Label each as either flat or round; briefly explain your answer.

---

---

---

10) Could any of your characters be considered foils? Explain your answer.

---

---

11) List each character and briefly describe his/her motivation.

---

---

---

12) Considering the situation, can you empathize or sympathize with the characters? Explain.

---

---

13) What is the overall tone of the story? Explain your answer.

---

---

14) List the types of conflict that appear and give an example of each from the story.

---

---

---

---

15) List the types of irony present and explain their use.

---

---

---

---

16) List and explain any examples of foreshadowing that you find.

---

---

---

17) List the symbols that are important and explain what they represent to the characters and/or reader.

---

---

---

---

18) Give an example of external dialogue. Give an example of internal dialogue.

---

---

---

19) List and explain the theme(s) of the story.

---

---

---

20) Consider cause and effect. What actions in the story lead to the final result? List at least three.

---

---

---

---

21) Create the plot triangle for the story. Label each part and list the events that go with each part.